Acknowledgement of Country

In the spirit of reconciliation, Sandgate Cemetery acknowledges the traditional custodians of this land, the Awabakal People. The spirit of the Awabakal can be found across the region and we honour the memory of their ancestors.

These traditional homelands are ancient and sacred to the Awabakal who have a deep sense of belonging, both traditional and contemporary, because they are part of the world's oldest surviving, continuous living culture on the planet.

Our totem The Black Cockatoo

Totems are a natural object or creature that is believed to have spiritual significance and can be adopted by particular groups as an emblem or symbol.

They are distinguishable by their characteristic black plumage and distinctive call, and can have either very vivid red or yellow patches on their bodies.

At Sandgate Cemetery we are frequently visited by the black cockatoo with the red feathers and local lore suggests that it can be the indication of rain.

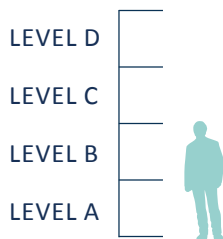

The black cockatoo represents the power of spirit. It could represent a strengthening of your own spirit or soul, or a celebration of spirits or gods or higher power that people believe in. Black cockatoo energy tends to be celebratory and can bring about empowerment, happiness and contentment.
